Leader, Furman Ticket Proposed For Democrats

Dent Mentioned as Candidate In Move to Unite the Party

HARRISBURG (UP) — Veteran state Rep. Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) today proposed that the Democrats nominate a ticket of Gov. George M. Leader for the U. S. Senate and Lt. Gov Roy E. Furman for governor next year.

Andrews said also that he would favor Cong. William J. Green, Philadelphia's Democratic city chairman, for lieutenant governor, and state Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (Westmoreland) for secretary of the Internal Affairs Department.

He contended that such a ticket would "unite rather than divide the party."

The 81-year-old legislative leader, speaker of the House in the 1955 session, claimed that Leader has every right to run for the Senate. But he said the governor should not be conceded "the right to nominate his successor."

Leader reportedly is cool to Furman as a possible running mate, although neither the governor nor Furman have announced their candidacies. The governor is said to favor Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia as his successor.

Last week another state lawmaker, Sen. John C. Miller (D-Beaver) came out flatly for Furman as a gubernatorial candidate.

Andrews said that both Green and Dent should be put on the ticket regardless of whether either man wanted or did not want to be on.

He said that the present head of the Internal Affairs Department, Genevieve Blatt, should be given a high-ranking post in the next cabinet.

Regular Army Troop Pullout At Little Rock

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker announced today that all regular Army troops will be withdrawn from duty at Little Rock's Central High School the day before Thanksgiving.

Brucker said "continuing stability" in the Little Rock school integration case makes it possible to pull out the last 225 men of the 101st Airborne Division on Nov. 27.

The move will leave approximately 900 federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen on duty to keep order and protect the nine Negro students admitted to the high school under Federal Court order.

The decision came two months after the Army sent 1,000 airborne troops to Little Rock from Ft. Campbell, Ky., on Sept. 24. President Eisenhower, at the same time, federalized 10,500 Air and Army National Guard troops.

Adlai Working In Borrowed State Office

WASHINGTON (UP)— Adlai E Stevenson, working in a borrowed office in the State Department, today tackled U.S. proposals for the NATO conference in Paris next month.

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate is working without pay, expenses or title as a consultant for the administration of his old political foe, President Eisenhower.

Stevenson planned to leave for New York later in the day and then go to Chicago. He is expected to return to Washington in a few days to devote as much time as possible on plans for the mid-December meeting.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Monday gave Stevenson a tentative administration blueprint for strengthening the free world against Russia's missile threat.

The titular head of the Democratic Party promptly settled down to study the proposals and to submit his comments in such a way as to be "as useful as possible." But he also promised to speak out if he does not approve.

Stevenson and Dulles conferred for 90 minutes on proposals which the United States will lay before the meeting of North Atlantic Treaty nations in Paris next month. President Eisenhower will confer with Stevenson before leaving for Paris Dec. 14.

Ban Lifted on Comments on Space Satellite Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder said today that a ban on potentially embarrassing Air Force comment on space satellites has been lifted.

Snyder told the House Information subcommittee the Oct. 9 order, issued to officers of the Air Research and Development Command five days after Russia launched its first Sputnik, violated Defense Department information policies. He said he hoped the official who issued it would be "censured."

Snyder denied knowing anything about another Air Force order, issued by the same official Oct. 17, which indicated that President Eisenhower may personally have ordered a gag-rule on all comments on this country's satellite program.

Vandergrift Lads Are Sought in Jail Break

VANDERGRIFT, Pa. (UP) — Police today awaited word from Ohio authorities in a search for a teen-age boy who was "sprung" from the Vandergrift jail Friday by six pals.

The fugitive, Philip Tarr, 18, New Alexandria, Pa. was arrested Friday night when he allegedly became abusive toward an officer at the Vandergrift-Derry football game.

Officer John Gaydeski said Tarr was ordered to stay out of a reserved section and created a disturbance when he was reprimanded.

Ted Reisinger, 19, also of New Alexandria, who allegedly helped in the escape, is believed to be with Tarr.

Police said Tarr's friends broke into the jail, jimmied the cell door and released him. Police Chief Michael Calizzi said the boys also destroyed Tarr's arrest report.

Charges Break

Reisinger was one of six boys charged with aiding a jail break. The other five are free under $500 bond each.

Calizzi said he expected a report later today from Ohio police who had been furnished with several addresses the fugitives may have been headed for.

"We have been getting excellent cooperation from the parents of the boys involved," said Calizzi. "Especially from the families of Tarr and Reisinger."

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace O. P. Blair Monday, charges of aiding in the prison break were filed against John Rercel, 16, his brother, Joseph, 19 and Carl White, 19, all of Derry RD 1, George Petrosky, 18, and Robert Cochran, 16, of New Alexandria, and Reisinger.

U. S. May Create Atom Stockpiles In NATO Areas

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States is thinking of creating several nuclear stockpiles in convenient locations in NATO countries.

He also said the United States probably will explore the possibility of establishing missile bases in continental European countries similar to those agreed to with Britain.

Dulles said, however, the United States does not now have operational intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM) ready for basing abroad. He said he supposes it will be about the end of 1958 before they will be available for such purposes.

The secretary of state said the United States probably will first discuss setting up missiles bases in Europe with Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander of Europe. Then, if those discussions indicate the IRBM bases would be feasible, the United States would talk with the foreign governments involved about actual locations.

$200,000 Fire At Richeyville Food Center

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—Fire accompanied by an explosion destroyed the Rosefield Food Center at nearby Richeyville today. Loss was estimated at $200,000.

Jack Greenfield, who opened the market last March, estimated the loss.

More than 100 firemen from six companies battled the blaze for more than three hours before bringing it under control.

The blaze broke out in the meat department about 4:15 a.m. A neighbor summoned Richeyville firemen and they apparently had the blaze under control until the explosion thundered.

Firemen believe the blast occurred either in a refrigeration unit or in a stockroom where paint had been stored.

A call was put in for help from the fire departments at Marianna, Brownsville, West Brownsville and Fredericktown.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Koches, who occupied an apartment above the store, fled the blaze in their night clothing. They lost all their possessions in the fire.

State Police Fire Marshal Peter Scolere was assigned to investigate the blaze.

Mannarino Claims He Was Just Passing By

Gabriel (Kelly) Mannarino, New Kensington racket figure, insisted yesterday that he was really "visiting a sick friend" last Thursday when New York State Police flushed him and 53 other men out of a mountaintop rendezvous.

Police described the men as "a good cross section of the nation's hoodlums."

There has been speculation that the gangsters, racketeers and their associates had gathered at Joe Barbera's home in Apalachin, N. Y., for a meeting of the Mafia, the notorious "Italian Black Hand Society."

However Mannarino scoffed at those reports. He said he was in Scranton last week, planning to go to New York City when he learned that Barbera was "very sick" at his palatial ranch house in Apalachin.

Barbera has an extremely serious post-surgery heart condition, Mannarino said.

When he arrived at Barbera's home, Mannarino found men from all parts of the nation and Cuba.

"I just fell in with them," he said, after denying any prior knowledge of the assembly.

Mannarino maintained that he did not know most of the men at the meeting. He also denied any raid by police and described the officers as "complete gentlemen."

"All they wanted to see was your driver's licence and car owner's card," he said. "We were not told to move on. I could have stayed in a hotel or motel around there if I had wanted to."

A feature of the gathering was a steak barbecue with all the trimmings, Mannarino said. He added that the ailing Barbera

To Recount Ballots In N. B. V.

Judge Richard D. Laird today ordered ballot recounts in both North Belle Vernon voting districts in the Nov. 5 election for council seats.

Judge Laird appointed two boards of attorneys to start the retabulation Nov. 29 in the 1st and 2nd districts of North Belle Vernon. The jurist said he acted on petitions filed by groups of taxpayers who charged errors by the election boards.

Four council seats were at stake in the recent election. Three of the winners polled large pluralities in the unofficial count.

However incumbent Tony Stringhill apparently defeated Republican James Reed by only ten votes in the contest for the fourth council seat. Stringhill got 671 votes to 664 for Reed in the unofficial returns.

Other Candidates

The other successful council candidates were William Mascara with 1013 votes, Homer Zucconi with 929 and Charles Klisowski with 769.

According to the unofficial returns, Stringhill polled 362 votes in North Belle Vernon's first precinct and 312 in the second. Reed's totals were 388 in the first and 276 in the second.

Judge Laird also ordered a recount in Irwin's 4th Ward for the office of council in which Republican Henry M. Vernail received 176 votes to 170 for Democrat Louis J. Scheurle.

Former Mayor Urban Gillespie, Jeannette, Dies

JEANNETTE, Pa. (UP)—W. Urban Gillespie, 69, former Jeannette mayor and owner of the city's largest department store, died at his home Monday.

He was president of the M. A. Gillespie Co. and had participated in its operation for more than 50 years.

Gillespie was elected mayor in 1946. It was the only time a Republican had been elected the community's chief executive.

In 1948, Gillespie conducted an unsuccessful campaign for Congress.

He served as president of the Jeannette Chamber of Commerce last year, when the group won a state prize in a community development contest, and was a trustee of Westmoreland Hospital and Seton Hill College.

Gillespie is survived by his widow, Leola; a daughter, Mrs. Ann Fay, of Massachusetts; and four sons, W. Urban Gillespie Jr., and Phillip Gillespie, both of Jeannette, Frank Gillespie, of New York, and Dr. John Gillespie, of Washington.

Burial will be held Wednesday at Greensburg Catholic Cemetery.

John Kossar Is Named to County Planning Group

John Kossar, member of the Monessen Board of Education, has been named to the Westmoreland County Planning Commission, it was announced today.

He will succeed another Monessen man, Donald C. Duvall, assistant to the president and vice president-industrial relations of the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

Duvall resigned recently, explaining that he intended to move to Allegheny County in order to be closer to his Pittsburgh office.

Kossar, who is currently serving as secretary of the School Board, was appointed by the Westmoreland County Board of Commissioners. He will attend his first meeting on Dec. 9.

Kossar, active in civic and club affairs, is in his seventh year as a member of the School Board. He formerly served as president of the St. Mary's Greek Catholic church congregation.

The new member of the Planning Commission is general foreman of four departments of the Monessen plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. The Kossars, who have two sons, live at 1000 Rostraver St.

The Planning Commission was organized about a year ago to develop a master plan for the county.

The Commission is currently engaged in formulating a county-wide building code.

Many Parents Attend School 'Open House'

A total of 2,219 "visitations" were recorded last night during an "open house" observance at Monessen High School.

Henry Furio, principal, said the figure represents the number of conversations the MHS faculty held with parents during the two-hour session. On an average, each teacher talked to 35 parents.

The "open house" was part of the 37th annual American Education Week observance in the city.

Members of the Future Teachers of America served as guides and ushers. The president and secretary of each home room recorded the number of visits.

"We were very pleased by the number of parents who turned out to learn more about our school," said Furio.

Gets Three Year Term, For Shooting Woman; Sentence Suspended

TOKYO (UP) — Many Japanese reacted angrily today to the suspended sentence given U. S. Army S3C William S. Girard who shot and killed a Japanese woman last spring on what a Japanese judge called a "childish whim."

A three-man Japanese court today sentenced the Ottawa, Ill., soldier to three years at hard labor on the manslaughter conviction, but sentence was suspended for four years on good behavior. Girard walked out of court a free man.

Today's sentence will not become final under Japanese law until 14 days have passed. During that time both prosecution and defense attorneys can file an appeal. Indications were both sides have had enough and the conviction will stand.

The Army planned to get Girard out of Japan shortly after the appeal period ends. In reality, he is on four years' probation and, if he were to stay in Japan and run afoul of Japanese law within that period, he could automatically be sent to prison to serve the three-year sentence imposed on him by the Maebashi court.

In Washington the State Department commented the trial was carried out "with the utmost fairness and with due regard for the rights of the accused." The department shied away from direct comment on the outcome, but officials privately said they felt Girard was treated very leniently.

Sentence Opposed

Opposition to the light sentence was led by the Socialist Party whose demands for a Japanese trial for the slaying of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a brass scavenger at the Camp Weir firing range Jan. 30 touched off an international furor.

Inejiro Asanuma, Secretary General of the opposition Socialist Party, called the verdict a "complete manifestation of the weakness of Japanese courts toward the United States."

Kayoko Sakai, the 22-year-old daughter of the victim, termed the suspended sentence "the same thing as a non-guilty verdict." She said she believed the sentence would not "provide Girard with a chance to atone for his crime."

Girard himself was glad to be out of it.

"It was kind of tough," he told a press conference at Camp Drew. "But I am glad the judge gave me another chance."

In Girard's home town of Ottawa, Mayor Fred Eichelkraut said, "I'm glad it's over and that Bill will be coming home to his mother soon."

Army Had No Comment

The Army had no comment, but military observers said Girard probably would have received much harsher treatment from the Army had he been tried by a courts-martial for the death. The Army charge probably would have been second degree murder or manslaughter, they said.

Judge Yuzo Kawachi, head of the three-man court at Maebashi, admonished Girard in his final opinion to "turn over a new leaf and stop taking light hearted action" so he could "grow into bigger and better manhood."

Dumbauld Takes Oath of Office As Judge Today

Dr. Edward Dumbauld, a Uniontown attorney recognized as an authority on constitutional law, will be sworn in today as a judge in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

Dr. Dumbauld was appointed last week by Gov. George M. Leader to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge John S. Morrow. He will receive his commission of office from Deputy Prothonotary Edward Brady.

Atty. Philip O. Carr, who will address the court, also will robe the new jurist before the commission is read.

The constitutional oath will be administered by President Judge W. Russell Carr before the full body of the Fayette Bar Assn. The written oath will be signed by the new Judge Dumbauld and passed to the deputy prothonotary.

Judge Carr will welcome Judge Dumbauld after he is led to his place on the court bench. Judge Eustace H. Bane also will make remarks.

Judge Dumbauld received the appointment on recommendation of the Fayette County Democratic Committee. He will complete Judge Morrow's unexpired term, which continues until the first Monday in January, 1960.

Kelley Reported Critically Ill Following Fall

Rep. Augustine B. Kelley, 74, was reportedly in critical condition today at a Bethesda, Md., hospital.

The 74-year-old Democrat, who underwent a major operation in late September, was rushed to Suburban Hospital last Tuesday after a fall at his Chevy Chase, Md. apartment.

According to Kelley's office, the veteran legislator bruised himself in the fall.

However a spokesman for Kelley has maintained that his condition was not serious.

"The doctors want him where they can hold him down and keep a thumb over him," said a Kelley aide. "He's a very active man. . . terribly restless."

Other Kelley associates, however, report that his condition is critical.

Doctors refused to permit Kelley to return to his Greensburg home to vote in the state's recent elections.

Kelley represents Pennsylvania's 21st district in the House of Representatives. He has served as a congressman since 1941.

Man Questioned About Robbing Fresh Graves

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (UP)—Authorities today said a bachelor farmer who admitted butchering a woman storekeeper apparently also robbed fresh graves and decorated his home with a gruesome array of human remains.

The police, who asked that their identity be withheld, said the admission by farmer Ed Gein, 51, that he robbed a number of graves "almost rules out the theory he was a mass murderer completely."

Inside Gein's junk-strewn, nine-room farm house, authorities found 10 human skulls, at least one of them painted with lipstick. Some of his furniture appeared to have been upholstered with human skin, police said.

Authorities sought permission today to dig up graves Gein said he robbed to determined if they had been disturbed.

Officials of the state crime laboratory said they planned to take Gein to their headquarters in Madison, Wis., today for further questioning and he tests.

Gein admitted Monday he butchered Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a Plainfield hardware store owner, while in a trance.

Gein said he could not recall slaying Mrs. Worden last Saturday, but when he came out of a "daze" he remembered dragging her body from the store. Mrs. Worden's nude and decapitated body was found hanging in Gein's woodshed by authorities investigating her disappearance.

Coroner Russell Darby said the search of Gein's home was the "most revolting thing I have ever seen."

Soviet to Reject Arms Compromise

Threatens Decade Of Work

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) —Soviet rejection of a second Western compromise on Disarmament Commission membership stunned the United Nations today and threatened to wipe out a decade of work on worldwide disarmament.

Some Western diplomats said the Soviet stand, casually tipped to newsmen by Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov at a cocktail party Monday night, would force postponement of the General Assembly session scheduled for today.

The Assembly had planned to vote today on a six-power resolution proposing the U.N. Disarmament Commission be increased to 25 members.

It was sponsored by a broad representation—Canada, India, Japan, Paraguay, Sweden and Yugoslavia. The United States agreed reluctantly in the face of a Soviet threat to boycott arms talks unless the commission were expanded.

Second Compromise

In fact, it was the second compromise for the United States and its allies. At first they agreed to add only 10 members.

But with "neutral" India and Communist Yugoslavia giving assurances the Soviets would agree to the new alignment, the West gave in Monday.

Then Kuznetsov made his statement to newsmen at a cocktail party honoring King Mohammed V. of Morocco. He said the Soviet Union "shall not participate" in the proposed new commission.

"We would be interested only in a commission which would have half its members from the Western powers or countries associated with them in military pacts and the other half from the uncommitted countries and the socialist (Communist) countries," he said.

Little Hope for Any Break in Trolley Strike

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A joint committee of federal and state mediators and Mayor David Lawrence's advisers held little hope today for a break in the city's trolley strike.

A glum view was expressed by John A. Feigel, president of the AFL Pittsburgh Central Labor Union and Anthony J. Fedoroff, president of the CIO Steel City Industrial Union. They said the strike, which began Oct. 14, could continue "to Christmas—1958."

Federal Mediator G. Harry Young and State Conciliator Joseph Bach said Pittsburgh Railways Co. and Division 85, Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employes refused to budge from their wage positions.

The strike of 2,200 trolley and bus operators has halted mass transit facilities in the area.

Tornadoes Slam Southern States; At Least Eight Killed by Winds

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP) — A brooding black storm front moved eastward toward the Atlantic today, leaving at least eight dead in tornadoes that pounded Alabama and Mississippi for two days.

Alabama was hardest hit Monday — particularly the industrial city of Birmingham, where a twister dipped down in a heavily populated area, killing one and injuring 36. One other person was reported killed in Blount County, northeast of Birmingham, and a woman drowned in a swollen stream.

The front, whipped up in a clash of warm and cold air in the Southeast, also brought heavy thunderstorms and high winds to sections of other states and flash floods to several Tennessee towns.

Front Heading East

Strong winds and heavy rain hit Georgia Monday night and early today and the Atlanta Weather Bureau warned of heavy thunderstorms in southeast Georgia and southwest South Carolina as the front passed over.

The tornado at Birmingham was one of nine reported in Alabama Monday and several more touched down in Mississippi, injuring at least six and causing extensive damage.

Twisters also were reported in the Alabama cities of Gadsden, Oneonta, Forkland, Douglas, Albertville, Boaz and near Tuscaloosa.

Flash Flood Hits Town

In Tennessee the town of Spring City was hit by a flash flood and water reached a depth of six feet after a house washed against the mouth of a drain culvert. Between 60 and 75 families had to vacate their homes and water damage was extensive in the business section.

Georgia Civil Defense officials reported that about 25 homes were damaged by strong winds in Atlanta. Trees and power lines were knocked down and there was minor flooding in low areas.

Five persons were killed Sunday in Alabama and Mississippi by scattered twisters and the two days of buffeting resulted in extensive property damage.

Louisiana and Texas had tornado activity last week that injured several persons and destroyed a number of buildings.

Dr. C. L. Wilbar To Head State Health Department

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today promoted Dr. Charles L. Wilbar Jr., acting secretary of the state Health Department, to the post of department head at a salary of $20,000 a year.

Wilbar replaces Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison, whose resignation was effective Monday. Mattison has accepted a position with the American Public Health Association in New York.

A native of Philadelphia, Wilbar was formerly deputy health secretary. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and served his general internship at Abington Memorial Hospital.

The governor said Wilbar had a "long and excellent record" and said he was "greatly impressed" by Wilbar's service as Mattison's deputy. Leader said Wilbar was strongly recommended to him by some of the foremost health authorities in the nation and state.

Wilbar said he considered the appointment an "important challenge." He promised to maintain the progress made by the department under Mattison's leadership.

From 1936 until 1953 Wilbar was associated with various medical projects in Hawaii before he was appointed a Health Department deputy.

A human heart was found in a pan on Gein's kitchen stove when he was arrested, and District Attorney Earl Kileen said there was evidence of cannibalism. However, Gein denied "he ever has eaten human flesh," Kileen said.

In questioning by authorities Monday night, Gein was quoted as saying he had gone out about 40 times on moonlight nights to rob graves at two cemeteries for a "thrill."

Gein was held in jail at Wautoma on a technical charge of stealing Mrs. Worden's cash register. Bond was set at $10,000 and a preliminary hearing was scheduled for next Tuesday.

Train Jumps From Overpass

MEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—The Boston and Maine Railroad's passenger train Red Wing jumped the tracks on an overpass today and plowed into a five-story brick building.

At least two persons—the engineer and firemen—were killed, eight were injured and scores were shaken up. The train, which runs between Boston and Montreal, was carrying about 50 passengers.

Dead were engineer Harold J Danforth of Somerville, Mass., and the fireman, identified only as Murphy, who was trapped in the cab of the locomotive, which toppled 11 feet to the street.

was in bed throughout the visit.

Mannarino, who with his brothers reportedly operate the numbers racket in a four-county area of Western Pennsylvania, did not hesitate to discuss the event with reporters. He appeared unimpressed by the notoriety which the newspapers have given to the meeting.

Mannarino did not explain why police held the group for more than 12 hours.

Brothers Denied Freedom in Somerset Slaying

SOMERSET, Pa. (UP)—Melvin Boden, 36, and his brother, Harry, have been denied freedom while police continue an investigation into the death of Melvin's wife.

The burned body of Mrs. Mary Boden, 36, was found Sunday night in the couple's Rockwood home. An autopsy showed the victim had died of third degree burns. Doctors also found a head injury, indicating the woman was unconscious when her bed clothes caught fire.

Attorneys for the brothers petitioned Somerset County Judge Thomas F. Lansberry Monday for their release, arguing no evidence had been submitted to indicate a crime or their connection. The judge, in rejecting the motion, said police could hold the brothers for 72 hours as material witnesses. The brothers operate a planing mill here.

Coroner Robert Halverson said several details remain to be cleared. He pointed out the only fit damage in Mrs. Boden's bedroom was to the bedcovers and a small portion of the floor. This, he said, appeared to contradict the badly burned condition of Mrs. Boden's body.

Pineau, Dulles Meet Today to Discuss Breach

WASHINGTON (UP) —In a face to face meeting today French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau calls upon Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to help heal the allied breach over U.S.-British arms shipments to Tunisia.

The United States is eager to get things patched up before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris next month.

Pineau was reported seeking Dulles' help in bringing about a general French-Tunisian agreement on outstanding problems between France and her former protectorate.

Such an agreement could provide the new French government a way out of its near-crisis, prompted by the arms shipments, which France fears will help the nationalist rebels in Algeria.

Authorities said Dulles probably would react favorably.

Pineau said Monday his government wants "to reinforce Atlantic solidarity that was compromised" by the arms shipments.

"Never since the war has the Communist Party gained such a victory in France," he said. "French public opinion is very troubled by this question."

In London British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told Parliament Communist Czechoslovakia had offered to supply Tunisia with arms.

Young Woman Must Return Man's Gifts

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The state Supreme Court ruled Monday that a 31-year-old woman, who they said used her jilted 80-year-old fiance's bankbook as her "favorite literature," must return more than $12,000 in gifts from him.

The high court, in a majority opinion written by justice Michael Musmanno, ruled that Sara Jane Vogstberger must return the gifts she got from George J. Pavlicic. The couple, both from Pittsburgh, were engaged five years ago when she was 26 and he was 75.

Musmanno said the marriage proposal was "more consonant with an approach to the bargaining counter than to the wedding altar."

The opinion also ruled for the first time on the state's 22-year-old Heart Balm Act.

Musmanno charged that the act of 1935 was not intended to "throw a cloak of immunity over a 26-year-old woman who lays a snare for a 75-year-old man and continues to bait him for four or five years so that she can obtain valuable gifts and money from him under a false promise of marriage."

He said the woman received from Pavlicic over a period of five years gifts of cash, two cars, jewelry, a $4,500 down payment on a house and a $5,000 down payment on a taproom.

"Even before George's bankbook became Sara Jane's favorite literature," Musmanno wrote, "she had prevailed upon him to advance substantial sums to her."

The justice said the woman told Pavlicic she was no longer interested in young fellows having already been married to a young man and divorced from him.

But, he said, she finally moved to another town without telling him and married a man two years younger than herself.

"Scarcely a contender for Methuselah's records," he added.

The woman had appealed a lower court decision on the basis of the Heart Balm Law which outlaws breach of promise suits.

Three Major Criminal Cases In Washington

Three major criminal cases were in progress at the same time today in Washington County Court. Two of them involved murder charges.

In Courtroom No 1, Judge J. Ingram Hook presided over the murder trial of Orville Kittle, accused of slaying his nephew, George Wayne Lasko, on Aug. 10 in California, Pa.

In Courtroom No. 3, Judge David Weiner listened to the murder case against three Canonsburg youths. James Glenn Alford, George Pollard and Ronald Burgess. The trio is accused of murder in the beating death of aged Austin Wallace of McDonald. Wallace suffered his injuries in May and died in July. The jury was selected last week.

In Courtroom No. 2, Judge George T. Cummins opened the case against William Glick, Charleroi, charged with forgery and other counts in connection with the Crown Sales and Crown construction companies of Charleroi. A jury was picked yesterday for this case.

State Chamber Holds Development Contest

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Chamber of Commerce today invited Pennsylvania municipalities to enter the fourth annual community development contest starting next January for $20,000 in prize money.

Clarence W. Funk, contest committee chairman, said the chamber had a 300 community goal to surpass this year's 220 entries. Winners will be announced in five population classes in 1959.

The communities will be judged on the basis of year-long progress on specific development projects and scrapbooks submitted to illustrate the community's success.

Contest winners in the 1957 competition will not be announced until next spring, but in 1956 the first prizes of $1,500 were won by Hazleton, Carlisle, South Middletown Twp, Cumberland County; and Saltsburg.

(Monessen finished third in the 1956 contest behind Carlisle and Indiana, winning a prize of $750. This was matched by the West Penn Power Co., bringing the city's total award to $1500. Chamber officials have reported that Monessen will enter the 1957 contest.)

Meanwhile, the state Internal Affairs Department announced it has sent a suggested timetable to city charter commissions recently elected in Butler, Johnstown and Pottsville so they can meet requirements of the new optional charter law for third class cities.

The timetable called for organizational meetings by the commission this month and suggested committee reports, preliminary reports and public forums prior to a referendum for approval of the local government proposed.

The three cities took advantage of a local government option law passed by the 1957 Legislature which provided a choice of commission, mayor-council or council-manager plan of operation by third class cities.

Holiday Festival Cooking School Here Tomorrow

Ida May and her whispering puppy, "Happy," will be another of the attractions at the Holiday Festival being sponsored by the Monessen Lions Club and Peoples Natural Gas Co. tomorrow evening in the High School auditorium.

The program will be under the direction of Margaret Toth, Peoples Gas home economist, and will be highlighted by the presentation of Mrs Mary Eythe, Mrs. Pennsylvania of 1957.

Other program highlights will be novelty vocal selections by the Lions quartet, the Four Specs; the awarding of a number of prizes, and the presentation of a cook book to those attending.

Ray Annonio Top Winner in Grid Contest

Raymond Annonio, 637 Marguerite St., Monessen, took top honors in last week's Daily Independent football contest by guessing correctly on eleven of 12 games.

Annonio miscued only on the Donora-Monessen tussle. He successfully picked Notre Dame's upset of Oklahoma and Rice's shocking win over Texas A & M.

Three persons missed only two games to share second and third prize money. They were Mrs. Joseph Rogowitz, 211 Vernon St., Belle Vernon; Anthony M. Trozzo, 108 Division St. Monessen, and John Cenkner, 312 Third St. Monessen.

Under contest rules, tie entries are decided on the basis of the closest guess to the highest point total scored by a winning team Last week's correct figure was 42. Mrs. Rogowitz and Trozzo selected 40 while Cenker chose 44. Since all were two points off, they remained tied for the runner-up money.

Contest officials reported that three entry blanks were submitted last week with no names There were also a couple of entries from out of state.

The final Daily Independent football contest of the season will be held this week. An entry blank appears on page 14 in today's issue.

Kittle Murder Case Is Expected To Go to Washington Jury Today

The murder case against Orville Kittle was expected to reach the jury in Washington County Court today.

Both the defense and prosecution presented their final arguments this morning before Judge J. Ingram Hook. The jurist will probably charge the jury this afternoon.

Kittle, charged with the Aug. 10 slaying of his nephew, George Wayne Lasko, 26, in California, claimed the shooting was accidental during direct testimony yesterday.

The defense took only one day to present its side of the case. Kittle, himself, spent a good part of the time on the witness chair.

The 36-year-old defendant told the jury that the death weapon, a .38 caliber police special, was discharged accidentally while he and Lasko fought for its possession.

Describes Efforts

Kittle described Lasko's efforts either to get the gun which Kittle had taken from Speers Police Chief Charles A. Hazlett or to detain Kittle from leaving the scene. Kittle was the subject of a search by Hazlett, a former Monessen patrolman, in connection with the burglary earlier the same day of the Hollow Inn in Speers. Kittle had lifted Hazlett's gun from the officer's holster and was in Hazlett's car prepared to speed away when the shooting occurred.

Kittle described Lasko's efforts to restrain him and said:

"The next thing I knew the gun went off and he fell away from the window."

"Did you at anytime intentionally point the gun at Wayne?" Defense Attorney Sanford Finder asked Kittle.

"No, sir," the defendant answered.

One definite surprise reached the surface during the direct examination of the defendant by his counsel. That was the revelation of Kittle's prison record which ordinarily the defnse will fight stiffly to keep from the record and the jury, although in this case there had been previous hints that this was not the first time Kittle had been in trouble.

Recital of Crime

Attorney Finder, however, led his defendant through a recital of a previous crime for which Kittle spent eight years in the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Briefly, Kittle's story was that he was stopped for questioning by Weirton, W. Va. Police in April, 1949, and was ordered to go with them to the Weirton police station. Kittle, however, produced a gun and drove away with the two officers, later leaving them handcuffed to a tree near East Liverpool, Ohio. He was charged with and convicted of kidnapping the officers and got out of prison last March 19, less than five months before the fatal shooting of his nephew.

The "kicker" in Kittle's recital, though, was his revelation that when he had his trouble with the Weirton Police eight years ago, he was accompanied by the brother of Clifford Eugene Deems of West Brownsville. The latter testified in the present case against Kittle, telling the jury that Kittle had expressed animosity toward Lasko about two weeks before the shooting.

No Animosity

Much of the defense testimony, however, was aimed at establishing that there was no such animosity and that Kittle and his nephew were on good terms prior to the shooting.

The State testimony during the case has been that Kittle had the gun resting on his arm on the bottom edge of the window on the driver's side of the car when it was fired, hitting Lasko high in the chest. The fatal bullet lodged in Lasko's lower back indicating a downward course whether by direct route or deflection.

The State has also contended that Lasko was standing three feet from the car when the shot was fired. The defense has insisted that Lasko was leaning into or against the car at the time, probably in a forward crouch.

The Big Question For the New D. A.

THAT police raid in New York State which found a well known Westmoreland County racketeer, "Kelly" Mannarino, attending what appears to have been a "convention" of the nation's top hoodlums ought to be of special interest to the county's district attorney-elect, Earl S. Keim.

It cannot be news, of course, to anybody connected with law enforcement as Mr. Keim has been that racket operations in Westmoreland County have been and are now on a big-time basis. And nobody who can add two and two and get four has doubted that these operations have been part of the nationwide syndicate which the Kefauver committee described after its investigation several years ago. "Kelly" Mannarino, in other words, was unquestionably on a business mission.

It has been the policy of the Westmoreland County district attorney's office for many years to ignore this condition. Neither the Mannarinos nor any other racketeers of prominence have been molested by local or county authorities although their operations have been widely publicized.

Since Mr. Keim owes his election to precisely the same political forces which long have controlled the district attorney's office, it is a reasonable presumption that he, too, will do nothing about organized crime. At least if he does, a lot of people, including his political sponsors and the racketeers, will be mightily surprised.

But every public official is entitled to his chance. And since Mr. Keim made the statement during the recent campaign that, if elected, he and nobody else would be the district attorney, it would be unfair not to give him a chance to erase the presumption by action after he takes the oath to uphold the law.

Will Westmoreland County continue to be a safe sanctuary for professional criminals operating as part of a nationwide system of crime?

Earl Keim will be answering that question one way or the other beginning Jan. 6.

Helper or Critic?

WE BELIEVE President Eisenhower, anxious though he may be to make a display of national unity, should deal carefully with the practicing politicians of the opposition party, including Adlai Stevenson.

The Democratic politicians, including Mr. Stevenson, seem to be in no mood for the kind of national unity which would be genuinely impressive either to Americans or to foreigners. They are keeping up a drumfire of criticism of the administration clearly designed to convince the country that the President has either been incompetent or lax or both.

If this is going to be the Democratic line, then we fail to see that those who follow it can make a constructive contribution to the formulation of national policy either from within the administration or, as Mr. Stevenson apparently intends, from the fringe of it. We do not see how the administration can be supported and criticized at the same time without both the administration and the critics lacking conviction.

President Eisenhower's job, given to him again less than a year ago, is to lead the nation through a difficult period of international tension. Mr. Stevenson wanted that job, and the people rejected him emphatically. In all candor, what can Mr. Stevenson contribute in the present situation except some language?

Raise the Sights

THE DEMOCRATIC leaders of Pennsylvania seem to be squaring off for a showdown over who the party's candidates for governor and U. S. senator will be next year.

Gov. Leader seems fairly certain to be a candidate for the Senate seat to be vacated by the retiring Sen. Edward Martin, a Republican. But many Democrats throughout the state, including some who have made a good thing of the Leader administration, are discussing Mr. Leader in contemptuous terms. However, he would undoubtedly be a strong candidate for the nomination.

The nomination for governor probably will produce a real donnybrook, this being the office that controls the patronage on which politicians feed. And the possible candidates are a dime a dozen.

Wouldn't it be a good idea for everyone to start thinking now about the need for outstanding leadership in the governor's office? Pennsylvania as a rule does not produce great governors, Mr. Leader being no exception to the rule as certainly his Republican predecessor, Mr. Fine, was not. Possibly we all, especially those who are active in politics, should be raising our sights.

After Hurricane—

Red Cross Revived A Town

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

CAMERON PARISH, La. — A new Cameron — now animate and purposeful — has come to invest the almost lifeless ghost of this community which four months ago was all that was left in the woeful wake of Hurricane Audrey.

Mr. Drummond

After the winds racing 100 miles per hour had lifted raging waves high over the lifeline of this little town on June 27 there were no stores in which to buy, few homes in which to live, no churches in which to worship, no schools to attend, no life to live and no means with which to live it.

Cameron Parish was prostrate and desolate, nearly all its 6000 men, women and children dazed and destitute refugees crowded in emergency shelters 60 miles away at Lake Charles.

Today new shops and old are opening up. Business is looking up. New homes are being built and others are being made livable. Schools have started. New and better church edifices are rising.

For Cameron it is, in a very real sense, a kind of resurrection.

Red Cross Did It

How can a whole people who suffered such destruction of will and well-being be restored so quickly, so fully and so well?

The main instrument of this great deed, here as well as elsewhere when disaster strikes, is the American Red Cross which acts because the whole nation enables it to act. Four facts about how the Red Cross works need to be borne in mind:

The Red Cross represents private generosity privately administered to private individuals.

It gives its beneficence to all who need it in the wake of disaster.

Its prime purpose is to re-create self-reliance and independence.

It acts promptly and decisively without cumbersome red tape because it is organized to act promptly and decisively without red tape.

Here is how it does it:

Interview Victims

As soon as the immediate need of emergency shelter and feeding is in hand and sometimes simultaneously with it, Red Cross caseworkers begin to interview the afflicted families to determine three things — (a) loss due to disaster including homes, household furnishings, food, clothing and, in the case of self-employed persons, means of livelihood; (b) the capacity of each family or person to return to pre-disaster status of living through their own resources; (c) the difference between need and the capacity for self-help, this is what the Red Cross seeks to provide.

Statements of resources are carefully checked through banks, business firms and other sources.

Every recommendation for Red Cross aid is reviewed by a specially selected committee of local leaders who devote long hours late into the nights in order to speed decisions.

Awards in Cameron varied from several hundred dollars to as much as $7000 for families whose homes needed rebuilding and refurnishing.

Guide Is Re-equipped

Take the case of Marcel and Tracy Benoit, who lead a simple, rural life. They were awarded funds for the replacement of household furniture and equipment essential to his occupation as a hunter's guide, plus a basic supply of staple foods to see the family through the winter. As a hunter's guide, Tracy needed and received a 12-gauge shotgun, shells, grants for the purchase of a new retriever named "Red", an outboard motor, a flat bottomed boat, duck decoys, hip boots, and hunting clothes — all of these being necessary to replace similar essentials gone with the wind.

On June 27 on a street just east of the Cameron School Board office five neat little frame houses all stood in a row and in each lived a Peshoff family. On June 28 these houses all had disappeared when the storm-driven waters from the Gulf of Mexico erased every sign of living from Peshoff Street. Today the Peshoff families are back on their feet through Red Cross aid.

Half of the family of Johnny Reed, the only taxicab driver in Cameron, was swept into the hurricane-tossed waters and his '54 Chevrolet was washed away. When he first went to the Red Cross, still stunned by the experience, he said: "If my boys can just have something to eat and some dry clothes; that's all I ask." The American people gave him more. Later, when his needs for more tangible help had become evident, his house was rebuilt, he received money for a sturdy used car so he could go back to work, and furniture.

When you look at Cameron Parish today, four months after, you know that the Red Cross was there.

'Local' Boys Make Good in Big City

Merry-Go-Round—

Dulles Drafting Bold Plan

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — If you get a glimpse at the advance plans John Foster Dulles has for the NATO meeting in Paris you can readily understand why he wants Adlai Stevenson to stand by his side to give a helping hand. Dulles will need all the support he can get from Stevenson and the Democrats, since he isn't likely to get much from Old Guard Republicans.

Mr. Pearson

For he has worked out the most revolutionary plan of free-world defense ever contemplated in the history of individual nations. So far it's tentative and subject to change. It depends in part on Stevenson's reaction. But what Dulles wants to sell is such a complete coordination of west European defense that France might give up her navy to depend on the British and American navies, while England might give up long-range bombers to depend on American bombers.

Here are the outlines of the tentative work plan for western free-world defense:

1. A pool of western scientific resources, not only of scientists, but of laboratories and equipment.

2. A joint training program, whereby the best science students would study at any university, whether British, American or German. Thus an Italian student might go to Germany, a Greek student to the United States. There would be an international pool of scientific training.

3. A military pool, as outlined above, whereby expensive land armies are curtailed in favor of pushbutton warfare.

4. Finally, the United States and England would build up an arsenal of nuclear weapons and guided missiles in Europe.

U. S. Guarantee

This involves the most revolutionary step of all. For what Dulles and Eisenhower will have to sell the smaller nations of Europe is that the Anglo-Saxon nations reserve the power to decide when Europe will go to war or when it won't. It will be their decision as to when this stockpile shall be used. Eisenhower and Macmillan do not want to permit Belgium, Greece, Denmark et al to dip into the atomic stockpile when they may be worried about war; only if England and the United States are ready to go to war.

Selling this will not be easy. In order to sell it, Dulles proposes a solemn pledge that the United States will come to the aid of any free European nation if attacked; that we will go all-out to protect it with every weapon in the arsenal — even if this involves retaliatory bombardment of American cities.

This is the trump card Dulles proposes to play, and this is where Adlai Stevenson comes in. His job will be to keep the Democrats in line.

Fear of Congress

If you study the diplomacy of John Foster Dulles you come to the inescapable conclusion that his chief failures have resulted not from lack of brain, but lack of courage. Today he has two great fears; one is Russia; the other is the Congress of the United States.

And as much as the administration is worried about Russia, much as it fears their ICBM and new scientific victories, even more it seems to fear Congress.

In the past, Dulles and Eisenhower could always fall back on the Democrats for support. They knew they could expect little from such pillars of Republicanism as Sens. John Bricker of Ohio, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Bill Jenner of Indiana, or, in many cases, Bill Knowland of California. These stalwart GOPeers have been against almost every plank in the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign affairs platform, because basically Eisenhower-Dulles are following New Deal foreign affairs policies.

So Dulles knew he could fall back on the Democrats.

Today, however, he can't. The Democrats are irked, sore, and rebellious. They are all too aware of the fact that the Republican National Committee is continuing to mail out reams of publicity accusing them of getting the nation into two world wars; still branding them as guilty of 20 years of treason. Democrats also see the Eisenhower missile-satellite setback as their political victory. And they know that GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn has warned the White House that public-opinion polls show Sputnik means political disaster for the Republicans. Sputnik, Alcorn has reported, is the basic reason for fantastic Democratic majorities in New Jersey and New York.

The Democrats know this, and John Foster Dulles knows that they know it. That's why he is clutching at the coattails of the once-scorned egghead, Adlai Stevenson.

Secretary of State Sevenson?

Close friends of Adlai Stevenson are firmly convinced he will never run again for President, but that he does cherish the ambition to become Secretary of State in the next administration — which he hopes and believes will be Democratic.

Stevenson's greatest interest has always been foreign affairs. He worked on British-American problems in London during part of the war, was later the first to propose a republic rather than a kingdom for Italy; attended the San Francisco conference in 1945 which hammered out the foundation format of the United Nations.

During the Truman-Dewey campaign of 1948, John Foster Dulles campaigned so vigorously against Truman that White House press spokesman Charlie Ross announced Dulles would not be welcomed back as adviser to the Democratic State Department. One day later Dean Acheson reversed this, and Dulles did come back. He remained for four years, working side-by-side with the Democratic Secretary of State.

Stevenson's friends say a similar role for him alongside the present Republican Secretary of State would give him invaluable training to be the next Secretary of State — if and when.

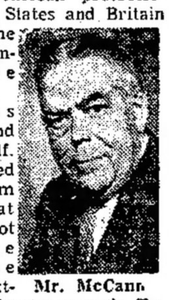
Behind The News—

Tunisia Dispute May Cause Allied Split

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The dispute over the arming of Tunisia may lead to an important review of United States-British-French relations.

By sending weapons to France's former North African protectorate, the United States and Britain angered both the French government and the French people.



Mr. McCann

France was willing to send weapons itself. But it wanted first to get firm guarantees that they would not fall into the hands of the rebels in next-door Algeria. France regards Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco — which like Tunisia is now independent — as in its own sphere of interest. It wants no outside interference.

The United States and Britain took their action on the ground that if they, or France, did not give Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba the weapons he demands, he might turn to Soviet Russia to get them.

It can hardly be disputed that in taking their action against France's wishes, the United States and Britain intervened in what is a problem for France in its desperate attempt to keep Algeria, last of its three North African possessions.

Was Action Justified

The question still remains whether the action was justified by the British-American belief that it was necessary to keep Tunisia from following the course of Egypt and Syria and thus giving Russia a foothold in North Africa such as it has in the Middle East.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau has come to the United States to confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

It is expected that Pineau will first ask Dulles to get a guarantee from the Tunisian government that the weapons it is sending will not be permitted to get to Algeria for use by the rebels in killing French soldiers.

But Pineau undoubtedly will seek American support for French policy in Algeria also.

The Algerian problem, specifically the demand of the rebels for outright independence, is to be debated in the United Nations General Assembly, possibly next week.

Rebels Will Have Support

The rebel cause will be supported by the "neutralist" and "anti-colonial" nations of Africa and Asia. France will expect the loyal support of the United States and Britain for its policy of ending the revolt by giving Algeria a limited measure of self-rule.

It is possible that, largely due to the Tunisia dispute, there will be a meeting of the American, British and French foreign ministers before the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries in Paris starting Dec. 16.

At a United States-British-French meeting, or in separate discussions with the United States and Britain, France is likely to tie up the Tunisia issue with NATO. That alliance pledges its members to give no help to an enemy of any of them, and the Algerian rebels are enemies of France.

In the end, the Tunisia dispute may lead to a needed clarification of the relations of the big three western allies.

The Lighter Side—

Suggests New Remedy For Headache—Tails

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Give a man a tail he can wag, it says here, and he may be less susceptible to brain tension, headaches, strokes, that frustrated feeling, and other cranial contretemps.

If man still had a tail, a neurosurgeon has suggested, he might whip it around and feel better right away. It appears, he says, that monkeys release brain tension by moving their tails, thus helping their mental health.

I'd like to suggest that, in addition to easing our brains, we could also use a good, prehensile tail for such things as picking daisies without bending over, but let's not get frivolous about this thing. Can't you hear a hurried, dish-laden waiter snarling at a customer: "Awril, whatsa hurry? I only got two hands and a tail."

But enough of such excursions. The surgeon, Dr. Mason Trupp, told a medical association meeting: "Even though evolution has deprived man of his tail, he has not lost the desire and compulsion of wiggling it." He added that he had performed 175 experimental operations to free the spinal nerve that leads to the wagless tail that isn't there. The hope is that this might cure the frustration, born of wagful urge.

A False Tail

It seems to me there might be another solution. Speaking for the gibbons, the orang-utans, the chimpanzees, the gorillas, the men—all of us who have lost our tails—I feel that something might be done in installing new ones. Science has been doing this for some time in the case of teeth, eyes, limbs, and what not — including hair.

If a man can have a toupee that moves with his scalp, why can't he have a tail to twitch on impulse?

Perhaps, on second thought, it's just as well that they're not available. With so many practical jokesmiths around, there's too much danger of its being a case of (I hate to say this) the wag tailing the man.

And, since we as creatures have lost so much along the ages from primordial ooze to Presleyism, perhaps we are frustrated by things other than taillessness. I, for instance, feel little compulsion to waggle a tail but a powerful drive to grab branches with my feet and hang inverted in the air.

Loses Equipment

Man is losing so much of his former equipment — tails gone, toes shrinking, chins receding, fangs dulled and disappearing — that in the future he may be frustrated because he doesn't have even an eyebrow to hoist in amazement.

Another thing about this tail business. Is it such a mental loss? Chimpanzees, without tails, seem just as happy as monkeys with them. Take dogs, the most notorious tail waggers around. Are they really so happy? If so, why are there dog psychiatrists in business? Rabbits, with almost no tails, seem at least as happy as dogs—although it must be admitted rabbits do wiggle their noses.

The doctor may be right about us and our tensions. However, most people probably agree with Bill Cullen's comment on a radio program when he read the no-tail-to-wag dispatch. "Personally" he said, "I'd rather have a headache."

Evelyn Mutich, P. B. Bielich Wed

St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Church of South Side, Pittsburgh, was the setting for the marriage of Evelyn (Bunny) Mutich and Peter B. Bielich on Sunday, Nov. 17.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Mutich of Market St., Belle Vernon, and the late Mildred Mutich. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. George Milanovich of Pittsburgh.

The nuptial mass was performed by the Rev. Velimer Kovacevich, church pastor, at 2:30 p.m. before an altar decorated with white carnations and lighted tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with a scoop neckline, short pleated sleeves and empire waistline. Seed pearl embroidery emphasized the waistline and extended to the back of the gown to form a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of sheer illusion was held to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Maid of Honor

Marlene Satay of Pittsburgh was maid of honor. She wore a mint green gown styled with a V neckline, fitted bodice and a ballerina length skirt. The back interest was provided by a pleated drape effect ending in a bow at the waistline. She carried a cascade arrangement of green carnations and wore a headpiece of fresh ivy.

Bridesmaids were Louise Mamula, Steffi Milovich, June Rabbitt, Shirley Topich, Pat Allenbach, Olga Kovanovich, Myrna Ugrinyi, Marianne Sava, all of Pittsburgh, and Arlene Richie of Fairhope. All wore capacity tafeta as did the junior bridesmaids, Suzan Shakley and Yvonne Bunich. Their ensembles were styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant. They wore ivy headpieces and carried bouquets of carnations. Each wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the bride.

Flower Girls

Donna and Becky Mutich of Belle Vernon, sisters of the bride, were flower girls. They wore white nylon dotted swiss dresses styled with bouffant skirts edged with lace, puffed sleeves and fitted bodices. They wore crowns of fresh ivy and carried small white baskets filled with rose petals.

Best man was Edward Raletich and serving as ushers were Lawrence Trelovich, Nicholas and George Bielich, George Topich, George Vulatich, Peter Bukich, Rudy Matyavich, Peter Radich and Milan Vukas, all of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Betty Mutich, mother of the bride, wore a street length dress of light blue embroidered satin with a white hat and other accessories of black. The mother of the bridegroom chose a ballerina length gown of royal blue Chantilly lace over blue satin with matching accessories. The maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Anna Lovrich of Pittsburgh, wore a pink lace dress with a matching hat trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. All three wore corsages of white carnations.

Places were laid for 750 guests when dinner was served at the American Serbian Club of Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock. The table at which the bridal party was seated was centered with a seven tiered wedding cake topped with a revolving music box playing 'Here Comes the Bride' and a miniature bridal couple. White doves and pink roses also decorated the cake.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will live temporarily with the bride's grandmother in Pittsburgh.

The new Mrs. Bielich attended Charleroi Schools and was graduated from Bellmar High School in 1954. She is now employed by the Bell Telephone Co. in Pittsburgh. Her husband was graduated from South High School in 1951 and is now employed by the National Union Insurance Co.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Even Okie Fans Praise Play of Irish

Notre Dame played such a fine game against Oklahoma Saturday, completely outplaying the highly-touted Sooners that even die-hard Okie fans were admitting today the superiority of the Irish over Bud Wilkinson's lads . . . Even if the Irish should fail to win another game the rest of the way (we believe they will win quite a few more, naturally) the season is a success for Coach Terry Brennan and his lads . . . Crowds at the local VFW and the Belle Vernon American Legion got an extra kick out of viewing the game on TV for they saw it in color . . . and what a spectacle it was! . . . They'll still be talking about it tonight at Belle Vernon over the turtle soup supplied by a "catch" by one of the members.

Elaine Hinkel of Westmont High School, near Johnstown, has succeeded Monessen's Mary Katsuleris as the Duquesne University Plaque Tournament Women's tennis winner . . . The annual tourney is emblematic of the interscholastic singles championship of Western Pennsylvania . . . Our Mary was not eligible this year as she has completed her high school career . . . Speaking of Duquesne, Coach Dudey Moore of the Duke cagers, has the horses this season but claims his opponents are also "loaded" and Dudey claims he has other problems like Bob DePalma, 6-6 center, trying to cure a "fouling out" malady which saw him go to the bench on fouls nine times last year.

O'Toole Says Ball Was Trapped

There were a lot of controversial calls by the officials in the Monessen-Donora game last week, but the striped-shirted boys were right when they ruled MHS End Dennis O'Toole trapped a pass in the closing seconds which would have given Monessen at least the tying touchdown. O'Toole conceded he trapped the ball, but came up with it just the same. The officials delayed for some time before ruling the toss an incompletion. O'Toole felt though that he might have been pushed by a couple of Donora offenders before the pass reached him . . . That's the way it looked to some sideline spectators, too, but there were no officials around to detect the byplay.

As usual, Donora school officials refused to grant the Monessen Movie Club permission to film last week's football game. For years now, Coach Jim Russell has denied visitors the privilege of filming contests in Donora . . . Incidentally the Movie Clubbers took along their equipment just the same. They purchased tickets and were prepared to take films from the stands when they were sternly informed that "you'll all be thrown out of the field if you try to take movies." . . . Lou Sepe, an all-around athlete at Monongahela High several years back, is student teaching at Donora these days. He'll pick up his diploma from California State Teachers College in January.

Locals Played Finest Game Friday

We don't want to run this thing of commenting on the Monessen-Donora game into the ground but any mention of the game wouldn't be complete without commending the local gridders for their fine game . . . Many loyal Greyhound fans who have witnessed every 'Hound game this season, say the Donora game was the finest the locals played all year . . . Here's hoping they have a couple of more good ones in their systems for Hempfield and Brownsville (if the game comes off) . . .Three very deserving Mon Valley sports figures will be honored for their contributions to valley sports at the Big Five Conference fete December 11.

Today's Sports Parade—

Service Game Important To Army, Navy Veterans

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)— They sat there together, the picture soldier and the lynx-eyed sea-dog, and as they looked back into the past you knew what the Army-Navy game means to those in Army posts around the world and aboard all the fighting ships at sea.

"The one that sticks in my mind," said Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson, superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy, "was a dark one, any way you look at it."

Rear Adm. Bill Smedberg, the Naval Academy superintendent, nodded silently.

On Big Retreat

"We were on the big retreat from North Korea," continued the handsome, white-haired Davidson, the bitterness of that memory plain in his voice. "We had dug in on the north side of Pyongyang and I had just gone to bed when they routed me out and told me division wanted us to pull back farther before we were pinned down."

It was a bitter cold night in December of 1950. A knifelike wind keened over the snow. Enemy guns might open up at any moment fromthe frowning hills on both sides of the rutted road. But Gar Davidson, the one-time Army star and coach at West Point, thought fleetingly as the convoy retreated down the valley:

"The game should be just about over at home."

They stopped after a while, stamping their feet in the snow to restore the circulation, and a radio man ran up to Gar in the darkness and puffed:

"More bad news — Navy own it, 14 to 2."

Davidson straightened in his chair and a slight smile touched his lips.

Cup of Woe Overflowed

"That night," he said, "my cup of woe ran over."

Smedberg nodded again and then began to speak.

"You can't help thinking about the game, no matter where you are, when you know it's going to be played. Like the one in 1942 when I was on destroyer patrol off Savo Island."

That was another bad period in our nation's history of blood and battle. We had lost four cruisers in a slugging sea fight off Savo and now men like Smedberg, on his own in a gallant little destroyer, defied the enemy in one-ship sorties aimed at cutting the Japanese supply lifeline to island-entrenched troops.

"I had just tuned in for the kickoff," Smedberg reflected, "and, while the reception was very faint, at least I could hear most of it."

But just as the kickoff soared through the air back in Annapolis, where the game was played that year, the sonor man turned on the submarine alarm.

Mind on the Game

'We went after him, dropping ashcans all over the place," Smedberg said. "Then, as the action ended, my mind went back to the game. But it was over or, at least, game."

I couldn't get anything anymore."

They stayed out on that lonesome patrol another full week and, Smedberg recalls, "I almost went crazy wondering who won."

Finally one of our cruisers loomed on the horizon and Smedberg dashed to the blinker light.

"Who won the Army game?" he blinked.

The answer flickered back:

"Army. . ."

"My heart sank," Smedberg grinned. "But they were pulling my leg."

WILLIE'S SAFE AT HOME — Willie Mays, star center fielder of the San Francisco Giants, said he was deeply disappointed when he ran into a color barrier while trying to buy a three-bedroom, $37,500 home (right) in an all-white neighborhood. Later, the builder-contractor changed his mind and re-offered the home to Mays, who accepted.

Hempfield Is Rugged; Spartan Squad List Shows 14 Lettermen

Johnstown Tickets For Hempfield Tilt

Johnstown game tickets will be honored for the Hempfield game here Friday night, Armand Mori, Monessen High School Faculty Manager of Athletics announced today.

The Johnstown game was originally scheduled to be a home clash and the Hempfield game away but the Johnnies have canceled the Greyhound clash this season and the Hempfield postponed tilt was moved here.

Lineup Switches Help Team Develop Scat-back Threats

Hempfield High School's grid team, which offers the Monessen Greyhounds their next bit of oppposition Saturday in the drawn-out 1957 football season, is an experienced group.

Coach Bill Abraham greeted no less than 14 lettermen when he called the initial practice this season. Of these 14 only four were regulars on the 1956 eleven but the others received considerable experience in a losing season which saw the Spartans drop six games while failing to win.

A factor to be considered in last year's showing was that with the new school opening and adjustments to make, only three weeks of practice was completed by the Hempers before their opener.

This season the Spartans have more than made their presence felt with wins over such teams as Har-Brack and Hurst, and dropping decisions to such rugged elevens as New Kensington.

Several Switches

Abraham made several switches in the lineup this season which have paid off, like moving 140-pound guard Sonny Kruel to halfback, where he has developed into a scatback of no mean measure and Ronald Gaudi at fullback from the other guard post to utilize his speed and 185 pounds.

Don Eicher and George Cottrell, who played in the backfield last season are on the line this year.

Key to the Hempfield line play is big, 192-pound center Ed Behanna.

A lad named Gary Franklin, who goes only 138, also bears watching, as he can really travel.

Against this array Coach Armand Niccolai of the locals hopes he'll have all of his "Horses" ready after the rugged clash with Donora last week, which the locals lost by 19-13, in a thriller.

Rostraver Juniors Get Official Title Acclaim

Rostraver Junior High has officially been designated repeating champions of the Eastern Section of the Mon Valley Junior High School Football Conference. Centerville is the Western Section winner.

The official announcement was made today by League Commissioner James J. Harris, principal at Centerville High School.

Despite the flu epidemic which jumbled the schedule, the Rostraver Juniors, under Coach Ed Hogan were able to play all but one of their games, a clash with Fallowfield, which the local school officials tried desperately to arrange.

Four Wins, No Losses

In posting their second championship season the Little Leopards rolled past Marion, 28-13; South Huntingdon 27-7; Perryopolis, 13-0; Vernon, 21-7.

Next best record posted in the Eastern Division was recorded by Fallowfield with three wins and one loss, making a game with Rostraver Juniors look even more attractive had it been played.

Centerville defeated Mapletown, Bethlehem Joint, Jefferson, and California Junior High and tied Waynesburg for the Western honor.

Harris also announced the schedule for the 1958 season.

The Eastern Division card follows:

France's Humez In TKO Victory

PARIS (UP) — Frenchman Charles Humez, middleweight champion of Europe, planned today to campaign in the United States in early 1958 because of his impressive technical knockout over Andre Drille, champion of France.

Humez, 30, floored Drille three times before the referee stopped their non-title bout, just as Drille's handlers were preparing to throw in the towel. It was at 1:30 in the third round of their scheduled 10-rounder.

Kaiser Tabbed UP 'Linemen of Week'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UP)—Dave Kaiser was named "lineman of the week" by United Press today but you won't find his name on the enrollment lists of any college in the nation.

Kaiser, who won the honor largely on the basis of his defensive work against Minnesota, is enrolled at Michigan State University under the name of David Kajzerkowski.

Football writers shortened Kajzerkowski to Kaiser when Dave played high school football at Alpena, Mich.

So, very few of the 56,718 fans in Spartan Stadium last Saturday knew it was really Dave Kajzerkowski who grabbed off a Minnesota fumble in midair and raced 77 yards for the first in a parade of Spartan touchdowns.

Although that play was the most spectacular of the game, it was really Kaiser's defensive work that won him the honor as the top lineman of the week. He caught only one pass during the game, for seven yards, but consistently broke in on Minnesota quarterbacks Bobby Cox and Dick Larson and threw them for losses when they were back to pass.

Chuck Biksey Leads Construction League

Chuck Biksey toppled a total of 183 pins in a single game effort and 481 in a three-game total for Construction League bowling honors last night.

Others on the scoring list were Tom Hackenson, Doc Watts and Mitchell.

Standings — Vulcans 21-12, Freeports 19-14, Sharons 15-18 and Dandos 11-22.

Ward Rolls Top St. Cajetan Card

S. Ward showed the best total in St. Cajetan Ladies League bowling last night as she rolled a 148-386. E. Zimmaro, A. Alvarez and V. Oliver showed the next best marks.

Standings — St. Monica, 13-11, St. Lucy 13-11, St. Margaret 9-15 and St. Catherine 16-8. St. Lucy and St. Catherine were match winners last night.

Marshall Still Leads AHL Race Despite Slump

By UNITED PRESS

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard scored only two assists in three games last week, but it was enough to take over the National Hockey League scoring lead from his ailing elder brother, Maurice, with 24 points.

Henri, one of the smallest men in the league, leads all marksmen with 12 goals and is tied with four others for the most assists at 12.

Although Maurice (Rocket) Richard failed to score before he suffered a partially severed Achilles tendon Nov. 13, he still maintained second place four points ahead of teammates Jean Beliveau and Dickie Moore.

Bronco Horvath moved up a notch to a fifth place tie with Andy Bathgate of New York, each with 18 points. Fleming Mackell, the Bruins' scrappy center, was next with 17, followed by the Rangers' Camille Henry, 16, and Gordie Howe of Detroit and Vic Stasiuk of Boston at 15.

The Rangers pair of Lorne (Gump) Worsley and Marcel Paille have taken over as the league's stingiest netminders with a 2.11 goals-per-game average through 18 games.

Chicago's beefy Black Hawks are rapidly becoming the league's new roughhouse squad with a total of 266 minutes in penalties, but Lou Fontinato of New York still holds the individual lead in this department with 50 minutes.

JESS SWEETSER

In 1926, Jess Sweetser dropped a bomb on the golf world by becoming the first American ever to win the British Amateur championship. He had won the U.S. crown in 1922 and played on numerous Walker Cup teams before and later, but his British victory was a shocker to the experts on the other side of the Atlantic. Unluckily for Jess, his reign was short-lived, for an amateur named Bobby Jones happened along about that time.

Whatever happened to Jess Sweetser? Today, he's a vice president of a huge aircraft manufacturing company at Baltimore and finds time for golf at a noted spot near Washington called "Burning Tree."

St. Peter's college, at Cambridge, England, is commonly called Peterhouse, and is the oldest college in the university.

Spartans Top College Poll

Yankees Already Making Player Deal Overtures

NEW YORK (UP) — The dethroned New York Yankees, losing little time in an attempt to get back on the winning track, already have offered four of their "expendables" in the hope of coming up with another front-line pitcher for 1958.

Harry Simpson, Tommy Byrne, Enos Slaughter and Joe Collins all were offered to various clubs during the past few weeks and there is a chance two or three of those four may figure in a deal during the Major-Minor League meetings at Colorado Springs, Colo., Dec. 2-7.

The Baltimore Orioles are especially interested in Simpson, whom Paul Richards feels can help his club at first base.

Simpson came to the Yanks from Kansas City last June in the Billy Martin deal.

Stengel had his eye on two or three pitchers with the Orioles and the one he probably would like most is Billy Loes, who came on to record a 12-7 record with Baltimore this year after being abandoned by the Dodgers.

Slaughter, Byrne and Collins no longer figure in the Yankees' plans because of their age. Slaughter is 41, Byrne will be 38 next month and Collins will be 35 in two weeks.

General Manager George Weiss and Stengel always feel they can use more pitching and there are a number of hurlers in the league who appeal to them. Among those they would like to land are Dick Donovan of the White Sox, Ray Narleski of the Indians, Billy Hoeft of the Tigers and Camilo Pascual of the Senators.

Bears-Lions 'Sell Out'

DETROIT (UP) — Next Sunday's National Football League game between the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions is considered a "guaranteed sellout" today after 7,000 bleacher seats and grandstand locations behind poles were sold in an hour and a half Monday morning.

Sooners Now Rank As Fifth

NEW YORK (UP) — Michigan State took over the top spot in the United Press college football ratings today in the wake of weekend upsets that dropped Texas A&M to fourth place and Oklahoma to fifth.

Ohio State jumped up to the No 2 rating; Auburn, one of the lwo remaining perfect-record teams in the major college ranks, could not advance last week's No. 3 ranking; and Notre Dame returned to the top 10 group — in ninth place —on the strength of its stunning 7-0 upset victory which snapped Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak.

Mississippi was another newcomer in this week's top ten advancing from 11th place to sixth. Navy, Iowa, Notre Dame and Army rounded out the select group in that order.

Rice, which produced a major shocker Saturday by beating last week's top-ranked Texas A&M, 7-6, was placed 13th in the weekly ratings of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the United Press board.

Auburn, 6-0 conqueror of weak Georgia, attracted the most first place votes from the coaches. Coach Shug Jordan's unbeaten and untied powerhouse had 14, compared to 13 for Michigan State and seven for Ohio State.

However, the two Big Ten titans received stronger support for succeeding places and thus took over the first two ratings with 310 and 283 points, respectively. Auburn had 278 points.

This marked the first time in the eight-season history of the United Press ratings that two teams from the same conference placed 1-2 in any weekly ballot of the coaches.

Ohio State clinched the Big Ten championship and the Rose Bowl berth by beating Iowa, 17-13.

Michigan State, the National Champion in 1952, winds up its season Saturday against Kansas State. Ohio State takes on Michigan, while Auburn still has games remaining against Florida State and Alabama.

Dupas Banned

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Lightweight Dave Dupas of New Orleans has been suspended for 90 days by the Louisiana Boxing Commission because of an injured hand which prevented him from meeting Larry Armstead in a 10-round bout Monday night.

Engle Hoping for Fair Weather to 'Loosen Up' Jacks

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Coach Rip Engle hoped today for fair weather the remainder of the week so quarterback Al Jacks could loosen up properly for Penn State's annual clash with Pittsburgh Saturday.

Jacks, out of action for the last few games with a shoulder dislocation, was limited in his workouts Monday because of a heavy downpour forced the Lions to practice indoors.

Engle, a perennial worrier, was disturbed by the loss of a regular session outdoors. He indicated that the Lions would need every session possible to cope with Pitt, favored by six-points to defeat State

Jacks, a Pittsburgh boy, was Engle's ace in the hole until his injury. Glassport's Richie Lucas, a sophomore, took over the quarterbacking duties and was more than capable in the games he guided the Lions Engle said his assistant, J. T White, who has been scouting Pitt lectured the Lions in detail on what to expect.

"He delivered a stern warning that the boys should not underrate Pitt," Engle said.

Turning to his ends, Engle said they would give Pitt plenty of trouble. He singled out three — Les Walters, Jack Farls and Paul North—as "the best three ends of any one team in the country."

Ron Markiewicz and Romeo Pannozzo were also tabbed by Engle as "outstanding."

Cousy Claims Leg Injury 'Deliberate'

WORCESTER, Mass. (UP)—Veteran Bob Cousy, star of the champion Boston Celtics, enters City Hospital today for treatment of a leg injury which he says was "deliberately" inflicted.

The Celtics sparkplug was injured in Saturday's game with the Philadelphia Warriors which Boston won 111-89 for their 11th straight victory this season.

The injury occurred when the Warrior's high scoring center, Neil Johnston, collided with Cousy who charged Monday night that the incident was a "deliberate foul".

Dr. Shannon said a blood clot had formed in the injured leg and Cousy would be sidelined for at least two or three weeks.

Army-Navy Tilt Decides 1957 Lambert Winner

NEW YORK (UP)—The winner of the Army-Navy game on Nov. 30 almost certainly will receive the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern major-college football supremacy.

That became evident today when latest weekly ratings in the vote for the trophy placed Navy first with a perfect score of 10.0 points for being named first on every ballot. Army was second on every ballot for a 9.0 score.

Neither service team plays again before their showdown at Philadelphia. Last Saturday, Navy pushed its record to 7-1-1 with a 52-0 rout of George Washington and Army defeated Tulane, 20-14, to make its record, 7-1.

Following in order in the voting were Penn State with 7.6 points, Boston College with 6.1, Syracuse with 6.0, and Dartmouth with 4.6, all in the same position as last week.

Pittsburgh moved up to seventh at 4.2 and Holy Cross to eighth with 3.1 as Princeton dropped to ninth at 2.7. Yale was 10th at 1.0.

Alumni to Honor DU's 'Iron Dukes'

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne University alumni will honor the school's famed "Iron Dukes" Saturday night at a homecoming celebration with all seven members of the team and their coach in attendance.

The seven basketball players to be feted are Moe Becker, Rudy Debnar, Paul Widdoes, Joe Urso, Eddie Melvin, Lou Kasperik and Bill Lacey. Chick Davies, their coach, has retired from college tutoring.

The "Iron Dukes," who graduated in 1941 after compiling a 17-3 record, earned their name because during a three-year span every close game participated in was played with only five men.

Bears Lose Hill

CHICAGO (UP)— Harlon Hill, star pass-catching end, will be lost to the Chicago Bears when they play the Detroit Lions next Sunday because of a shoulder separation. It was considered possible that Hill could be sidelined for the entire season by the injury.

Steelers Must Win To Stay in Race

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Coach Buddy Parker said today the Pittsburgh Steelers must whip the Green Bay Packers Sunday to remain in contention in the NFL Eastern Division.

Parker, who still hopes to overtake the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants, tied Green Bay 10-10 in an exhibition contest. But the Packers have improved since

The Steelers, idle last week end, held a practice session Monday, a day which they are generally off. Parker had his team work out in the rain at Forbes Field.

Top Price Set For Title Bout

CHICAGO (UP)— A $10 top was set today for the Joe Brown-Joey Lopes lightweight championship 15-round fight at the Chicago Stadium Dec. 4.

The sponsoring International Boxing Club said the lowest priced seat would sell for $2.50 with intermediate choices of $7.50 and $5.00.

The fight will be televised on the usual Wednesday night network, but the area within 150 miles of Chicago will be blacked out.

Ex-Dragon Cager Ruled Ineligible

PITTSBURGH (UP) — John Mesher, 25, Donora, one of Pitt's most promising basketball candidates, has been ruled ineligible after he had won a first string berth.

Mesher, a graduate of Donora High School, entered Pitt in 1949 but left school to work in a steel mill.

The Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference declared him ineligible since ECAC rules require an athlete to complete his eligibility within five years after he first competes.

Pitt Favored by Six Despite Lion Record

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pitt's Panthers, losers in their last four games, were six-point favorites today to defeat Penn State, winners of their last four starts.

The Panthers have a 3-5 record while the Lions have a 6-2 mark and were ranked third in the Lambert Trophy voting. Pittsburgh was in seventh position in the Lambert race, emblematic of Eastern football supremacy.

Both teams have faced three common foes this season and the Lions on a comparative score basis have all the better of it. Army beat both, Pitt, 29-13, and State, 27-13.

The Lions topped West Virginia, 27-6, and Syracuse, 20-12, while Pitt lost to the Mountaineers, 7-6, and to the Orange, 24-21.

Coach Johnny Michelosen put his Pitt squad through a muddy practice session at Trees Field Monday. Michelosen said it was still uncertain whether center Charley Brueckman would be ready by Saturday for Penn State. Brueckman is suffering from a shoulder separation.

South Coaches Named

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)— Andy Pilney of Tulane, Darrell Royal of Texas and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi today were designated as coaches for the South in the annual Blue-Gray football game, Dec. 28. Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, Murray Warmath of Minnesota and Don Faurot of Missouri will coach the North.

Unlawful to Release, Import Nutria in Pa.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission recently decreed that it shall be unlawful for any person to import into this Commonwealth, or release in this Commonwealth, any of the animals known as nutria." Under the Game Law the Commission has regulatory authority over the importation, selling and releasing of certain birds, eggs and animals. The law prescribes a fine for anyone violating the Commission's regulation.

Nutria, furred marsh animals between the muskrat and beaver in size, are native to South America and have established themselves in some southern areas of the United States. They destroy natural food and habitat for wild ducks and muskrats, therefore constitute a hazard to these wildlife species. The low value of nutria fur has failed to encourage sufficient trapping to keep the animals under control in localities where they have flourished naturally.

A statewide survey of nutria-raising establishments has been made. Individuals and firms in Pennsylvania that are presently raising nutria on a commercial basis are advised to use extreme care to ensure that the animals do not escape into the wild, as the importation-release regulation is already in effect.

Stiffler's original tally for a two month period in 1956 — October 25 to December 24, inclusive — shows that dead wildlife removed from 23 miles of rural road in his Bedford County district totaled: 93 rabbits, 6 squirrels, 2 deer, 23 skunks and 22 opossums. Dead domestic animals removed were: 26 cats and 10 dogs.

As Commissioner Miller says, if the quoted tabulation were used as a measure to determine the statewide kill of animals on rural roads alone the totals would be enormous.

Big Game Reports—

Successful big game hunters are reminded to return kill reports as required by law. Game Protectors have been instructed to enforce the section of the Game Code which provides a penalty for anyone failing to report the killing of a deer or bear.

Rural Roads—

Pennsylvania Highways built to move heavy traffic rapidly are not the only ones on which vehicles kill animals, says Dewey H Miller, a member of the Game Commission. As proof he produces a report made by Carl Stiffler, a State Road Supervisor in Bedford Township, Bedford County.

Thousands March in Paris Demonstration

PARIS (UP) — Thousands of striking government workers marched toward the Place De La Concorde today. Heavily - armed police blocked off the Concorde bridge across the Seine to the National Assembly where French deputies were meeting.

The huge demonstration grew out of a nationwide strike by civil servants shortly before Premier Felix Gaillard faced the Assembly for a vote of confidence on his emergency plan to save the French economy

The walkout was in protest against the government wage freeze policy.

Strikers staged a demonstration at mid-morning before the Hotel de Ville, the Paris city hall Then they marched toward the Finance Ministry and then on toward the Concorde.

Riot Police Called Up

Thousands of riot police swarmed into the huge square. The National Assembly building was surrounded by police wearing steel helmets and carrying automatic weapons and rifles.

The strikers stopped in the Tuileries Gardens in front of the Concorde. Shortly after noon they began to disperse slowly

No major violence was reported

Police also were stationed around the American embassy on the eastern side of the Place De La Concorde. They had been there since Saturday when extreme right-wing groups threatened to demonstrate against the Anglo-American arms lift to Tunisia.

Protesting Wage Freeze

One million government employes, from mailmen to undertakers to airport control crews, were scheduled to participate in the 24 - hour strike in protest against the government's wage freeze policy. The strike began at midnight.

Gaillard was staking the life of his government on his emergency financial plan to halt inflation in the Assembly session The crux of the program is his demand for authority to raise $240 million in new taxes.

Observers gave the premier a better than 50 to 50 chance to win the vote, expected sometime tonight; in spite of opposition voiced by some members of his own coalition government.

All but One of 19 Air Victims Are Identified

LONG BEACH, Calif (UP)—Authorities today had succeeded in identifying all but one of the 19 bodies reclaimed from the sea following the Nov 8 crash of a Pan-American Airways Stratocruiser between San Francisco and Honolulu

Identification of the recovered victims began Monday immediately after the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea docked with the bodies and 14 cartons of wreckage of the plane

Thirty-four passengers and eight crewmen were on the luxury plane when it crashed, less than a half hour after it had radioed a routine position report.

Autopsies are planned on the bodies to determine, if possible, what caused the plane to crash without sending a distress signal

Debris picked up by planes and ships in the task force was packed in trucks to be taken to San Francisco, the point from which the plane departed, for tests.

You probably help her once in a while. But it's enough to make you realize what a tough job your wife has drying clothes. She wrestles with baskets of wet wash that weigh a ton. And a GAS Dryer costs you less to install, far less to operate than electric—only a penny a load for gas.

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE is the way we Dodge dealers feel about competitors' efforts to match the Swept-Wing 58. They lowered the roof some, but left the sides high. Their windshields got smaller while ours got bigger. So much for styling. Then, for another important comparison, take ride. Here's Dodge with Torsion-Aire suspension that just about everybody admits is the greatest advance in sway-free, dip-free, silent going that any car offers. So what do these other cars do? They borrow an air suspension system that's been used in buses for two years! (Costing well over $100.00 extra.) And most of 'em still don't have push-button driving—much less Dodge TorqueFlite—the proven automatic transmission. If you're a little disappointed in the '58 version of your car, come on in and see our Swept-Wing 58. The others are catching on—but they can't catch up.

U. S. Toy Makers Working Like Dogs To Make Muttniks

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UP)—Ever since the Russians launched their Muttnik, America's toy industry has been working like a dog.

Our toy makers have responded to the newest challenge from space with the same display of alacrity and know-how as they did last month, when suddenly confronted with Sputnik I.

As a result, our own Muttniks already are orbiting around the toy counters.

One item is a balloon satellite with a picture of a dog on it.

Another is a sad faced toy beagle hound who is sporting a plastic bubble space helmet and a weighted tail. The sales pitch is what accounts for the pooch's pout: "The Muttnik that can't get his tail off the ground."

According to 12 leading manufacturers with space toys on the market, everything is a sell-out. Their factories are working overtime to meet the rocketing demand. Pre-Christmas toy buying patterns indicate space items already are doing business at a Davy Crockett-like pace.

Many industry officials did not think 1957 would top last year in terms of retail sales volume, but the spurt in space toys has given them new hope. Benjamin Michtom, chairman of the board of the Ideal Toy Corp., recently predicted a million and a quarter dollar volume, or 6.5 per cent more than last year. The toy manufacturers of the U.S.A., Inc., are more optimistic with an estimate of a billion and a half.

What makes the toymakers especially happy is the timing of the space satellite shot in the arm. It started when Sputnik I was launched Oct. 4, giving the industry more than enough time to work up "hot" items for the traditionally "hot" Christmas trade.

It was only a matter of days before stores across the nation were receiving satellite launcher trucks, sky sweepers, rocket launchers, Sputnik battle stations, "spacenik" plastic helmets, Sputnik balloons, space guns, and last but not least, Sputnik bubble gum.

Immediately after Sputnik I went up, the Ideal Toy Company threw open its factory at Hollis, N.Y., and rushed a satellite launcher truck into production. They worked all night Saturday and Sunday to deliver the first shipment, by taxicab, to New York department stores Monday morning. Now the plant is trying to catch up with 200,000 orders for the item.

Ike in 'Equal Opportunity Day' Pitch Yesterday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)— President Eisenhower issued a special statement Monday night in observance of "Equal Opportunity Day," asking an end to "all artificial discrimination" in the economic field.

The statement was issued from the Deep South vacation White House, where the Chief Executive will confer briefly today with Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary.

"Every citizen who helps to make legal and economic equality a living fact is helping America," the President said.

The President made his appeal on the eve of the 94th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, a date now designated as "Equal Opportunity Day."

This country can "ill afford to waste the talent and abilities of any individual because of discrimination against him on the basis of his race, his color or his creed," he added.

Earlier Monday Eisenhower conferred by telephone with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles prior to the latter's meeting with Adlai Stevenson, now a special advisor to the administration on NATO affairs.

There still has been no word from the White House on the date the President himself will confer with Stevenson, merely an announcement that the two will meet prior to Eisenhower's departure for the NATO Council meeting in Paris next month.

Two VA Officers Slain by Guard In Reno, Nevada

RENO, Nev. (UP)—The government will ask the death penalty, a prosecutor said today, for a former chief guard who stomped into a Veterans Administration hospital Monday with two guns and killed two VA officers.

Another officer was critically wounded by Elza W. Eaton, 62, before he was disarmed by a fourth prospective victim.

Officers said Eaton had resigned his job as chief security officer of the hospital last March after making a series of complaints about its administration.

Assistant U. S. Attorney H. F. Ahlswede said the government will ask a first degree murder indictment which carries the penalty of death in Nevada's gas chamber on conviction unless a jury specifically states its verdict is "without capital punishment."

The 6-foot, 3-inch Eaton first walked into the engineering office, and fired at Earl A. Lombardi, 39, the hospital's engineering officer. Lombardi fell to the floor, critically wounded. Easton pushed past his unconscious form and shot dead the assistant engineering officer, Phillip I. Keables, 59.

Eaton then took a self-service elevator to the second floor, and entered the office of personnel officer Arthur R. Small, 48, and killed him.

Good Samaritan Class Holds Election of Officers Here

Election of officers highlighted the November meeting of the Good Samaritan Sunday School Class of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church last Friday evening. The results of the election were: president, Mrs. Thelma Medsger; vice-president, Mrs. Wanda Calhoun; secretary, Mrs. Vera Gephart; and treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Specht.

The devotions for the meeting were led by Mrs. Dorothy Lux, using as her theme, "Thanksgiving." In addition to several hymns and a special prayer, Mrs. Lux read a poem and a story dealing with early Thanksgiving.

During the business session, plans were completed to display the articles the class has made for the Bethesda Children's Home. These items were on display in the Ladies Lounge on Sunday morning. They will be packed and sent to the Home as a Christmas Gift from the class.

Reservations are now being made for the annual Christmas banquet which will be held at the Village Inn on Friday evening, Dec. 6. A chartered bus will leave the church at 6:45 p. m. that evening. Mrs. Norma Wachs is the chairman of the entertainment committee for this affair.

Mrs. Ethel Tully provided a game.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Evelyn Hostnick. Miss Geraldine Monath and Mrs. Charlotte Taylor. There were twenty-six members and two guests present.

Christmas Savings

Club members totaling 1,189 are being issued Christmas Savings checks this year by the West Newton office of the Peoples Union Bank and Trust Company. The checks represent an increase of $14,375.25 over last years total, when 1178 members received checks.

Southern Coal Producers Want Competition Halt

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Southern Coal Producers Association proposes that the government stop spending money on atomic power experiments and use the funds for missiles.

"The money already spent and contemplated for this wasteful and unnecessary program illustrates the type of spending which may be responsible for our lag in the missile field, despite tremendous over-all budgets which are a drain upon our entire economy," Association President Joseph E Moody said in a statement.

"There has never been any sound reason for government entry into the field of developing atomic energy to be used in competition with coal, gas and oil. In this time of crisis, it is almost criminal to waste funds and scientific manpower on such efforts."

Moody cited the new atomic reactor at Shippingport, Penn., which he said was built "on top of a coal field with government money."

He said the cost of electricity produced by the reactor "will be at least 65 mills per kilowatt hour as compared to approximately five mills per kilowatt hour for coal."

Clergyman Arrested

BERLIN (UP)—The East German Communists announced today that a Protestant clergyman will be tried for forming an underground organization of students to plot a "counter-revolution." Communist Leader Paul Froehlich, writing in the newspaper Leipziger Volkszeitung, said the clergyman, Siegfried Schmutzler, carried out counter-revolutionary activity among Leipzig University students during the Hungarian revolt. Schmutzler was arrested April 12.

Death Is Invoked

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP)—The Lebanese government announced today that the penalty for terrorist infringement of security regulations had been raised from a prison sentence to death. The Council of Ministers took the decision at a special meeting to discuss ways of stamping out terrorist activity, including the throwing of bombs, attributed here to foreign elements.

Be Careful When You Cheat on Income Tax

WASHINGTON (UP) — Once upon a time there was a wicked businessman. He cheated on his income taxes and underpaid his aged bookkeeper.

One day the Internal Revenue Service received a very interesting letter. The wicked businessman had to crugh up $200,000 in back taxes, fines and interest. The aged bookeeper collected a $10,000 reward and lived happily ever after.

The moral to this fable is: better pay those taxes or somebody will turn you in.

The Internal Revenue Service pays out about $500,000 each year in rewards to secret informers who blow the whistle on tax evaders. During the past fiscal year, rewards averaging $830 each were paid to 624 tipsters.

Section 7623 of the tax code gives the internal revenue commissioner broad discretionary power to pay rewards to any person who supplies information which aids in "bringing to trial and punishment persons guilty of violating the internal revenue laws . . ."

Maximum Seldom Paid

Regulations restrict rewards to a maximum of 10 per cent of the sum actually recovered from the tax evader. This maximum is rarely paid. The usual reward is about 5 per cent of the total amount of back taxes and penalties collected as the result of a tip.

Informers who supply detailed evidence of tax frauds get the maximum reward. Those who contribute vague leads get token payments as low as $100.

Largest reward ever paid was $76.000 to an accountant who presented internal revenue agents with enough documentary evidence to make an open-and-shut case against a business firm that had underpaid its taxes by more than one million dollars.

Disgruntled employes and former employes are a prime source of tips. So are disgruntled wives and ex-wives, envious neighbors, business competitors, and private detectives.

The number of people who actually collect rewards constitutes only a tiny percentage of the total number of tax tipsters. The vast majority of informers—above 90 per cent in an average year — never file the formal application which is necessary to qualify for a cash reward.

Some Are Patriotic

"Some of them are motivated by relatively pure patriotic principles," a veteran internal revenue officer said. "Others are seeking revenge. Quite a few share the sentiments of the man who told us, 'If I have to pay my taxes, I want everybody else paying theirs too.'"

Many people who apply for rewards don't get them. Internal revenue turned down 3,314 applications in the past fiscal year—about 85 per cent of those filed—on grounds that the tipsters had provided no information of real value.

"Some folks are so anxious to collect rewards that they report the vaguest of suspicions," an official said. "One fellow simply copied the names of wealthy people out of a telephone book."

While they regard informers as a useful adjunct to law enforcement, internal revenue agents privately feel the same way you do toward tattle-tales.

Their favorite story is about the informer who collected a $35,000 reward for turning in his employer, and neglected to report this windfall on his own income tax return.

Yep, they nabbed him.

Bad Throat May Mean Serious Ill

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A sore throat may mean real danger. So don't just shrug it off.

With children, a sore throat might lead to something as serious as rheumatic fever. In fact, most cases of rheumatic fever follow a "strep throat," tonsilitis or perhaps scarlet fever.

In such instances, the youngster seems to recover from the sore throat all right and appears to be perfectly well in two or three days. However, if he is susceptible, symptoms of rheumatic fever may develop within two or three weeks.

While only a physician can accurately diagnose disease, you parents might be on the watch for such symptoms as loss of weight, poor appetite, nervousness and frequent colds. Pain in the joints, either with or without swelling, may also be a sign of rheumatic fever, especially if it occurs in the knees, wrists or ankles.

Other Symptoms

A pale complexion, either a high or low fever, frequent nosebleeds and complaints of being tired might be symptoms. So might frequent stomach aches.

Without delay, summon your doctor if your youngster has any combination of two or more of these symptoms. They are particularly important if they follow a sore throat.

Primarily, rheumatic fever is a disease of children of school age, and kids don't usually complain unless there is something seriously wrong with them. So it's up to you parents to be on the alert for any danger signals.

The secret of preventing rheumatic fever is in getting a jump on it. If a sore throat is treated promptly, there is a good chance that rheumatic fever will not develop.

If your youngster has already had a bout with this disease, you've got to be especially watchful for a recurrence.

Question and Answer

H. M.: Can you tell me what causes Jacksonian epilepsy and whether it can be cured?

Answer: Jacksonian epilepsy is caused by increased pressure within the skull cavity, which may be due to head injuries or to tumors. Sometimes, an operation to relieve the pressure brings about improvement.

In Hollywood—

Once Film Brawler Livi ; Happy Life

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Remember Tom Neal, the guy who walloped Franchot Tone in a pre-dawn slug fest for the affections of sexy Barbara Payton?

The brawl wrote finis to the muscular actor's career, all but ruined Barbara's future in flickers and injured Tone.

That was more than six years ago.

Neal, tabbed with the "heavy" role in the romantic triangle, won the fight but lost the girl when the blonde beauty married Tone. The marriage lasted only a few months.

Barbara has remarried and lives in Mexico. Tone is acting again. But it is Neal who provides the happy ending expected of most movie stories—celluloid or real-life.

He paid for his mistakes and rowdy capers when his acting career plummeted like a sack of wet cement. Unable to find work, he pulled up stakes and moved to Chicago where he played in television soap operas.

Movie Career Ruined

A couple of years ago he gravitated back to movieland only to find the "go away" sign hanging on producers' doors. He was flat broke.

"Then I moved to Palm Springs and my life began to change," says Neal, a tanned, curly-haired man with an easy smile.

"At first I worked as night manager of a restaurant. That lasted six months. I saved a few bucks, bought some tools and became a gardener.

It was tough work at first under the broiling desert sun, but it was worth it. I really found myself—for the first time in my life."

Neal began studying Christian Science. Now, two years later, he has a burgeoning gardening business and seven employees. He married lovely Pat Fenton, a local girl, and they have a seven-month old son.

"I take my exams for a landscape architect license shortly," Neal said proudly. Then I'll really be in business."

Has New Career

The veteran of some 85 movies learned gradening in his salad days by working with a pair of Japanese gardeners who kept his two-acre Bel-Air estate looking like a tropical paradise.

Neal now trims hedges and cares for lawns of movie personalities with whom he used to travel the bistro beat along the Sunset Strip.

"I wouldn't go back to acting for anything," he avows.

"I'm outside all day long. I'm my own boss, and I don't have to worry about waiting for a call to work. No agent shoves me around and there's no stretching the bank account between pictures.

I'm a very fortunate man," he concludes. I've found religion, a good wife and work I can be proud of."

World of TV—

Barrymore Criticism From Ethel

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Ethel Barrymore Colt was born into the most famous theatrical family in the world. But so far as her career goes, she would have been better off as plain Emma Schultz, she says today.

The Barrymore name is a terrible, terrible handicap to anyone starting out in the theatre," says Miss Colt, a 45-year-old blonde who achieved a comfortable measure of recognition as a concert and operatic artist only after an arduous struggle.

Miss Colt's mother, Ethel Barrymore, is the subject of an NBC-TV "Command Performance" tribute this Saturday, a one-hour ceremony to which Miss Colt will contribute her filial genuflection. She will be joined by a curious collection of other Barrymore admirers including Tallulah Bankhead, Joseph Cotten, Vic Damone and Roy Campanella.

Terrified at Debut

I knew that when I went into the theatre as an actress 20-odd years ago, it was a nerve-wracking experience just to step out on the stage," said Miss Colt with a sigh. I could hear the audience whispering—that's her, but she doesn't look like her mother. And she doesn't sound like her.'"

"I was torn apart with fright and complexes. And when the critics saw me they said the talent in the Barrymore family had come to a stop with Ethel, John and Lionel. There were times when I wanted to die.

Of course, Mother was wonderful. She tried to protect me from the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. She could buck up my courage, but, you know, she couldn't play my parts for me."

However, being a Barrymore did have one advantage. It gave me taste, it gave me standards," continued Miss Colt. I knew what was good and what was bad. So at least when I walked out on the stage, I knew I was lousy."

Turned to Singing

Eventually, she turned from acting to singing. Five years ago Miss Colt (who is Mrs. Romeo Miglietta in private life)decided to change her professional name to shake off the burden of her Barrymore handle.

"I became Louisa Kinlock," she said, and suddenly, my whole career began to open up. In fact, since Louisa Kinlock, I've done over 500 opera and concert dates. I think that pretty well proves that as Emma Schultz I probably would have done well much earlier without the heartbreak.

"In fact, I proved it so well to myself and got so much confidence from Louisa Kinlock that I gave up the name a couple of years ago. I feel that now I'm pretty much accepted for myself."

Many Opposed to Pay-TV, Poll Shows

WASHINGTON (UP) — Broadcasting Magazine said Sunday a poll of TV viewers in 10 major areas throughout the country showed they opposed pay television 2-1.

It said a survey conducted by Pulse, Inc., for the magazine showed two-thirds of those responding were "not interested" in pay television.

Of those "interested," the poll showed two-thirds said they would prefer to pay by the program rather than a flat monthly fee.
